JOE MILLER IS HELD TO THE GRAND JURY

Saloon Man Bound Over on Evidence Produced and Published in Herald.

COUNTY ATTORNEY ACTS IN THE CASE

On a charge of exhibiting a slot machine, Joe Miller, proprietor of the Hub bar, 411 South El Paso street, was Saturday morning bound over to the grand jury by Justice E. B. McClintock.

Bond was placed at $300, which Miller gave. The order was given following a preliminary hearing in Justice McClintock's court, where Miller appeared with his attorney, Dan Jackson, County attorney W. W. Bridges appeared for the state and conducted the examination. Miller was not placed on the stand and the cross examinations conducted by his attorney were brief.

The slot machines seized when Miller was arrested by deputy constables Brown and Mebus, following the Herald exposure, were produced in court. One contains a roll on which five cards are shown. The cards change position when nickels are dropped into the machine. The second machine has a roulette dial, which revolves.

Herald Men Testify.

G. A. Martin, news editor of The Herald, was the first witness, and he testified as follows:

"On Monday afternoon, November 14, 1910, I went into the Hub bar, a saloon at 411 South El Paso street, El Paso, Texas. I asked for a drink and got it, also for a cigar and got that and some change. There were two slot machines on the bar. I dropped a nickel in one of the machines. The machine I played was what I would call a card slot machine. I got two pairs on the machine and was given two checks by the man behind the bar. I don't know who he was.

"When I threw the pair, I called the attention of the man behind the bar to that fact. He said:

"That's right," and gave me two checks. I asked him what they were worth and he said 'five cents each.' I cashed the two checks in for two cigars and left. I do not know the proprietor of the saloon, but have been told that it is run by Joe Miller. Defendant (Miller) is not the man who gave me the checks.

"A card on top of the machine shows how it pays, or at least I was paid according to the card, which reads as follows:

"Royal flush, 50 checks; straight flush, 12; four of a kind, 7; full hand, 5; flush, 4; straight, 3; three of a kind, 2; two pairs, 1; one pair, jacks or better, 1."

On the cross examination by attorney Dan Jackson, representing Miller, Mr. Martin stated:

"I did not see defendant there. I wrote part of The Herald story, Brann part of it, and Mr. Slater edited it. Only also wrote part of it. I was not solicited to play the machine."

Herald Reporter Testifies.

Charles A. Brann, a reporter for The Herald, was the next witness, and he testified as follows:

"I went down to the Hub bar Monday night at 7 o'clock. Mr. Martin sent me down there. I went in and bought a lemon seltzer. A Mexican bartender waited on me.

"I played this card machine three times and did not get anything out of it. I put in a nickel each time. Then I played the other machine. The first time I did not get anything. The second time it stopped on 15. I called the bartender and told him to give me some checks. He looked at the machine and gave me five checks.

BULGIN HITS HARD AT CLUBS

Also Says a Man Who Chews Tobacco Is a Mighty Dirty Christian.

TAKES GOOD RAP AT THE SALOONS

Bulgin's question box was the source of some of his hottest shots Friday night at the tabernacle meeting.

"Do you think a man ought to belong to the Toltice or Country clubs when they maintain a bar?" was one of the questions he said had been asked him. "No, I do not; I understand that they have bars and men have told me that they refused to belong for that reason," he answered. "Men's clubs are all right, but when you have a club with a bar, you have lowered your standard to the level of filthy old saloons. A man will not go into a saloon, but will join the Toltice, Country club or Elks' club and drink there."

In answering the anti-prohibition argument that the saloons paid money in licenses for the support of the streets and schools, Dr. Bulgin said: "If you need the money, I will suggest the Jesse James plan. Take a sixshooter and go out and hold a man up and get it. That is far more decent. You sell my boy $1 worth of whisky, you make an immoral child of him and incapacitate him from earning $10."

Where Boozie Money Goes.

"For every $100 worth of booze sold the brewer gets $58, the saloonkeeper $39, the city $3 and the taxpayers pay out $8 to pay for criminal prosecution which is caused by the booze. You never heard of a porterhouse steak causing a man to take a rolling pin and try to kill his wife, did you? Then let's have more porterhouse beefsteak and less whisky."

If the saloon was a bad thing for peace and order during the San Francisco earthquake, it is a bad thing any other time, and, if the united churches would get together they could run it out of the country. If you know it is a bad thing, but are afraid that it will hurt business, you are a moral coward, and a moral coward is worse than a physical coward.

Chewing Tobacco.

"Can a man be a Christian and chew tobacco?" was another question that he said had been asked of him.

"I am inclined to think that a man can be a Christian and chew tobacco, but he would be a mighty dirty one," was the reply.

"Why not ask, 'Can a woman be a Christian and chew tobacco?' You would just as soon kiss a mule as a woman chewing tobacco, wouldn't you, honey? Tobacco defiles the human body, it sets a bad example for the boys and makes a dirty mouth for women to kiss. But I don't think you ought to put a man in hell for chewing tobacco."

"Should I marry a man to reform him?"

"No, tell him that you are not running a Keely Institute."

Haps the Churches.

Dr. Bulgin did not confine himself to the temperance and tobacco question. He launched out in a tirade against the church, which, he said, was dying of dry rot and respectability. He romped on the church members who had their church letters in their trunk. "I would not give anything for all the trunk Christians in El Paso," he said.

"Put their soul in a thimble and it would rattle around. Every blessed one of you trunk Christians have rat holes in your religion. The greatest job the El Paso preachers have to do is to make catnip tea for some of you old sinners. The masses are not attending the church in El Paso and you don't seem to get them there. Neither

OVER 100 SLAIN IN MEXICAN UPRISING

Mexicans Leave Arizona Towns Armed; Border Trouble Feared

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 19.—Heavy buying of arms and ammunition in Phoenix, Yuma, Tucson, Benson, Nogales and Naco. The purchasers are Mexicans. Many Mexicans in this section have left in the last three days. Indications point to an outbreak along the border and at Cananea, Hermosillo and Guaymas.

Hundreds of Mexican laborers in this section have quit work the past week.

CONVENTION TO END ON MONDAY

New Mexico to Vote on the Adoption of Constitution January 21.

CONVENTION ASKS BOUNDARY SURVEY

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 19.—The convention has adopted a resolution to adjourn on Monday, and to hold the election for the approval of the constitution on January 21.

Every board of county commissioners was ordered by telegraph today to meet on next Tuesday to appoint the boards of registration for the election.

The Democrats have called a convention at Santa Fe on December 15 to define their attitude toward the convention. The representation is to be one delegate for every 100 votes cast in September. A committee was appointed to lay before the convention a complete criticism of the constitution.

Memorial to Taft.

The convention this forenoon adopted various resolutions and a memorial to President Taft asking for an immediate survey of the 103rd meridian, and the boundaries between New Mexico and Texas and Colorado, reciting at length the basis of New Mexico's claims.

Prohibition was voted down after brief debate by a vote of 57 to 25. Separate submission of a prohibition clause was also voted down by a similar vote, while an initiative local substitute offered by Judge Frank V. Parker was defeated by the close vote of 48 to 42, but would have carried if eight Democratic leaders had not absent themselves from the floor of the convention or failed to vote.

Upton Causes Uproar.

An uproar was caused this forenoon by J. N. Upton of Deming, offering a resolution reciting that the convention had bartered away the right of the people to direct legislation, and demanding that a separate proposition embodying the initiative and referendum be submitted.

The resolution was referred back to the committee on resolutions. His author after the Democratic minority had been unmercifully scored by A. A. Sedillos.

The Democratic minority made another supreme effort today to insert the initiative in the constitution, but could muster only 24 votes, while the Republican majority voted against it, 58 votes, three being absent.

The resolution came up on the motion to adopt the revised section one of the article on legislative department. Together with the initiative, prohibition was also laid in the grave by 60 out of 100 votes.

The rest of the day was devoted to passing the revised article on legislative department, the longest in the constitution. At a night session, the revisional amendments and irrigation were adopted as originally passed, although an effort to make the constitution easily amendable or upon initiative was once more attempted, but failed.

GOVERNMENT GETS CARTER PROPERTY

Title Affirmed to All That Crooked Engineer Officier Owned

New York, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The government's title to the property in dispute in the case of Oberlin M. Carter, former captain in the United States army, who served a term in the penitentiary for frauds in the Savannah harbor work, was confirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals in a final decree in the litigation today. Contractors Greene and Gaynor, involved in the fraud case, are now serving a term in the Atlanta federal prison.

The government claimed from Carter and others possession of all property bequeathed to the proceeds of funds belonging to the United States, which, it was charged, were fraudulently diverted.

FOUR MEN KILLED WHEN GUN EXPLODES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Four men were killed today by the premature explosion of a five inch gun at the Indian Head proving grounds of the navy. Lieut. Arthur C. Caffee was one of the men killed.

ARIZONA DEBATING CHURCH TAXATION

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 19.—The constitutional convention adopted a provision prohibiting the employment of aliens on state, county or municipal work. The provision regarding the department of labor, which provides for a permanent establishment of same, also for its acting as a board of arbitration, was resubmitted to the committee for changes.

Morgan of Navajo county, is leading the fight to tax religion and eleemosynary institutions, which is causing a hot debate this afternoon.

An attempt was made by Jones of Maricopa county to provide that the paid-in stock of corporations be taken as a basis of taxation when the real value cannot be ascertained. This was lost.

YALE-HARVARD GAME A TIE

The Attendance Would Be Larger But Seat Sale is Stopped.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—Neither Yale nor Harvard was able to score in this afternoon's game that was expected to settle the football championship, the final score being:

Harvard had a slight advantage in the first period but a bad fumble in the second period put the crimson on the defensive in that quarter. Corbett, who replaced Frothingham, did remarkable work for Harvard in this quarter, but a brilliant run by Potter, for Yale, put the ball in 28 yards of Yale's goal line. This was the closest either team came to scoring.

The third period was evenly fought, but in the fourth period, however, Harvard carried the ball steadily toward the goal and seemed sure of scoring, until Corbett fumbled on the 12 yard line and a Yale man fell on the ball. After that Yale, by brilliant plays, got the ball out of danger.

It was a great event. The eyes of 46,000 enthusiastic spectators were turned to the field. Probably 100,000 people would have jammed their way into the field if they could have secured seats, but they could not.

Never has more interest been aroused in a game between Yale and Harvard. It is ideal football weather, crisp and bracing. Every man on both teams reported in the fittest possible condition for the contest which will be a memorable one.

With the arrival of the crowds, boating became brisk. Harvard ruled the favorite, but there was so much confusion in Yale's rejuvenation that the crimson odds were hammered from 2 to 1 to 3 to 2 and 5 to 4.

Michigan and Minnesota.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—It was many years ago that this afternoon when the football warriors of Michigan and Minnesota settled the matter of the western championship.

Every seat around Perry field had been sold, and it is estimated that at least 15,000 saw the game.

Minnesota outwitted Michigan an average of seven pounds to the man, but both teams have swift, hard plunging back field men, and modern football with all its varieties of forward passes, and fake kicks was seen. Minnesota had not been scored on this year.

PUEBLA IS NOW HELD BY REGULAR TROOPS

PICKETS LOCATED ON TOWERS OF CHURCHES AND ROOFS OF HOUSES

Leader of the Revolutionists Is Taken Prisoner and the Fighting Ends—His Mother and Sister Are Also Prisoners With One Sister Dead—Is Grandson of Former Governor of the State.

Madero Flies From San Antonio, Texas.

Mexico City, Mex., Nov. 19.—Reports from Puebla where the revolutionary rioting occurred yesterday are that the town is quiet today.

Similar reports are received from the interior cities.

Estimates of the number killed in the fighting vary from 100 to 157.

On this point, however, no reliable information is available.

Strong forces of cavalry and infantry are patrolling the streets and pickets and sharpshooters occupy the church towers.

The revolutionary movement which began when the policemen attempted to break up the meeting of anti-re-electionists, appears to have ended with the capture of the home of Jose Cerdan, who was credited with having headed the rebels. Cerdan is said to have escaped.

Cerdan is a grandson of Gen. Miguel Alatarist, former governor of the state of Puebla.

Forty-two alleged plotters against the government have been arrested. They include the mother and sister of Cerdan. It was another sister and not Cerdan's wife as first reported, who shot and killed chief of police, Miguel Cabrera, and who in turn was shot to death. The body of Cabrera was thrown by the rebels into the street where it remained during the fighting.

Artillery and cavalry are being held in readiness in this city to rush to Puebla if needed.

Madero Disappears.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 19.—Francisco I. Madero, who it is alleged, stirred up widespread uprising against president Diaz of Mexico, left for parts unknown but his family is still here. A Mexican, answering Madero's description, accompanied by four others, is buying horses at Carrizo Springs.

Mexico City, Mexico, Nov. 19.—With many dead, variously reported at from 100 to 157, the town of Puebla is under martial law today and many homes are in mourning as a result of an attempt there yesterday to suppress a revolutionary meeting. The dead includes the chief of police, many gendarmes and public officials.

The stories told are that the trouble began when several policemen headed by the chief attempted to break up a meeting of anti-re-electionists being held in a large hall. As chief of police Miguel Cabrera and his men advanced toward the building a door was opened by a woman who snatched the chief, those gathered in the hall believing they had a right to meet unmolested.

A fight then began between the police and the occupants. A bomb was thrown from one of the windows in the midst of the policemen and rurales, the latter having been called to assist the officers. The bomb exploded, killing many. The other casualties occurred in the course of fighting which took place in the street. So far as known there were no Americans killed.

Rioting Continues.

Passengers from there assert that from midnight Thursday until they left

Puebla Friday afternoon, there was continuous rioting and while the anti-re-electionists had been dislodged from the building, fears were entertained that the disorders were by no means at an end.

From other sources in Mexico City, it is learned that the 17th battalion left here late Friday for Puebla by special train and that others were being prepared to be transported to the scene if necessary. It was officially stated here that 18 men had been killed.

A telegram from Puebla says that at 6:45 last night, the first regiment of federal troops arrived, also a corps of rurales. These, under the command of Gen. Luis Valle and Eduardo Caza, were led at once against the house in which the rebels were fortified.

Troops Realiased.

The Maderistas, as they have come to be known, were keeping up a hot fire from the windows and balconies.

A later dispatch contained the information that the house had been taken by troops and that 100 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition were captured and that order had been restored.

A feature of the fighting was the part played by women. The wife of Jose

ROTING IN CHICAGO STRIKE

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 17.—Sporadic rioting continues to mark the strike of the garment workers in this city. One man was shot and slightly wounded and four others were bruised and cut in an attack of strikers on strike breakers at the Kedzie avenue station of the Metropolitan elevated last night.

SUFFRAGISTS COURT PRISON

London, England, Nov. 19.—To their chagrin the 116 Suffragettes who were arrested yesterday during an attempt to force an audience with premier Asquith were discharged in police court today. The attorney for the crown announced that home secretary Churchill had decided on the ground of public policy that no benefit would be gained by proceeding with the prosecution. The willing martyrs to the cause of woman suffrage received the statement with hisses and boos.
